Refined and mineral, with layered aromas of white peach, mint, sage, citrus, white flowers, and subtle hints of white chocolate. The palate is fresh, saline, and textural, with vibrant acidity and a persistent floral finish.

Food pairing

Excellent with seafood stews, salt-baked fish, anchovy dishes, tuna ragù pasta, octopus preparations, or elegant vegetable antipasti.

Tasting notes

Produced from hillside vineyards across Avellino's most suitable Fiano zones, this wine captures the appellation's hallmark tension between aromatic generosity and mineral precision, delivering a white of depth, freshness, and age-worthy character.
